LMI Aerospace Unifies Corporate Brand

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 18, 2014 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- LMI Aerospace, Inc. (Nasdaq:LMIA), a leading provider of aerostructures, engineering services and structural testing to commercial, business and regional, and military aerospace markets, today announced it has re-aligned all subsidiary companies and divisions under its parent brand LMI Aerospace.

"By unifying all of our businesses under a single name, we take another step further toward our goal of achieving a fully integrated aerospace company," said CEO Dan Korte. "Both the name and the logo draw on the rich heritage of our legacy business while recognizing the significant impact our acquired companies have had in shaping our present and future."

Other efforts currently underway by the company toward the vision of one team, one company and one brand include integrating our divisions, re-aligning capabilities with current and future requirements, repositioning work and equipment to improve efficiencies, and adjusting its organizational structure.

"We look forward to leveraging this new brand, together with our incredible people who make operational excellence a personal commitment every day, to provide exceptional value for our customers," said Korte. "We are confident that the strong reputation we have with our customers and the full force of our collective efforts driving the company forward will enable LMI to be even more successful as a fully integrated entity."
